

Sanborn Head Presentations at AEHS Conference, UMass-Amherst

OCTOBER 15, 2018

Sanborn Head will be making four platform and poster presentations at the 34th Annual International Conference on Soils, Sediments, Water and Energy to be held at UMass-Amherst on October 15-18, 2018.

Presentations include high-resolution site characterization for an industrial site in France, data visualization tools, vapor intrusion mitigation, and an update on Poly- and Perfluoroalkyl Substances (PFAS). The conference is organized by the Association for Environmental Health & Sciences (AEHS). For more information and a complete conference program, go to:

<http://www.aehsfoundation.org/east-coast-conference.aspx>